

SCENES OF

ALAMO SQUARE

THE PAINTED LADIES

Stamp
Here

Dear _____

The Painted Ladies are one of the famous landmarks in Alamo Square. They are located on Stenier Street. It is a great photo spot!

The 6 row of houses are also known as the 6th sisters. These houses are called The Painted Ladies for their Victorian architecture and the various of colors. These beautiful houses were built on between 1892 and 1896.

These houses were one of the houses to survive the 1906 fire earthquake and fire. Also, the yellow house was used in the beginning credits of the popular sitcom "Full House".

THE VICTORIAN HOUSES

Dear _____

Besides the Painted Ladies, Alamo Square features beautiful Victorian Architecture. A walk down the Postcard Row or McAllister will show you the amazingly kept architecture especially from the 1800s. Most of these houses were destroyed in the 1906 houses but they were also restored.

They vary in colors but they also feature ornamental details. The neighborhood contains houses and mansions built in the Victorian Era.

Stamp
Here

ALAMO SQUARE PARK

Dear _____

The Alamo Square Park sits in the center of the neighborhood. It covers about 4 blocks of Alamo Square. It attracts many people to have fun. There are many activities that you could do here!

Here are some activities:

- *picnic
- *drawing/painting running
- *biking
- *walking your dog
- *picture taking
- *playground (for the little ones)
- *read a book
- *enjoy the view of the san francisco skyline

Stamp
Here

